

NVCCN: Nevada Collaborative Conservation Network

What is NVCCN?

NVCCN is a statewide effort to build a network that promotes, coordinates, and supports locally-led conservation efforts. The primary objective of NVCCN is to promote effective conservation of Nevada's ecosystems and economic viability of Nevada's communities through grassroots conservation. NVCCN provides structure to support local, diverse stakeholder groups working to achieve conservation by incorporating best science and local knowledge through a collaborative planning and implementation approach. NVCCN serves as a bridge between various groups that are already operating at the local, state and federal levels as a way to enhance and expand locally-led conservation efforts.

Vision

A state where people with different individual, organizational and institutional perspectives work together to complete locally-led conservation projects across working landscapes thereby providing a wealth and diversity of thriving and sustainable ecosystems for various species, recreation, business/industry and families/communities that depend on them.

Purpose

To help facilitate a proactive, inclusive, and responsible solution-based approach to resource issues. Partnerships will be fostered by demonstrating the benefits of collaboration and community-based conservation to achieve working landscapes and sustainable communities. Recognizing local stakeholder participation and leadership as critical contributions to conservation and resource management, we will work to increase the connectedness of communities to land and wildlife management agencies, and each other.

Background

The NVCCN concept originated in 2016. Following a state-wide kick-off meeting with more than 80 diverse participants, a series of organizational development meetings occurred culminating with the formation of the NVCCN Coordinating Group and the development of a Strategic Plan in March 2018. Each strategic element is staffed out by a work committee.

Focus Areas

- Establish NVCCN Coordinating Group to provide vision, momentum and capacity
- Support locally-led conservation efforts and bridge state-wide gaps
- Establish sustainable political and financial support for locally-led conservation in Nevada

Significant Achievements

Establish NVCCN Coordinating Group (CG)

- The CG is made up of 60+ individuals representing 20+ local, state, federal and non-profit agencies and organizations who provide guidance and spearhead larger initiatives to support community-based conservation efforts across the state. Participation is open to anyone.

Support locally-led conservation efforts and bridge state-wide gaps

- Assist groups currently operating across the state and support Conservation Districts focused on completing Resource Needs Assessments as a foundation for collaborative conservation planning and project prioritization/implementation.
- Establish and train state-wide facilitation roster to assist groups with organizing meetings, developing strategic action plans, and formulating goals and objectives.

Significant Achievements

Support locally-led conservation efforts and bridge state-wide gaps

- Develop a database of funding sources for project implementation and administration
- Develop/share decision support tools to help link local, state and federal conservation projects and priorities.
- Provide information sharing, networking and educational opportunities
 - Developed communication and outreach plan and products, including the launch of a NVCCN website to serve as an information repository.
 - Sponsoring webinar series in 2019.
 - Hosted 2 workshops (3rd March 2020) to bring together representatives from NV community-based groups, encourage peer-to-peer learning and networking, and connect with similar efforts in other states.

Significant Achievements

Establish sustainable political and financial support for locally-led conservation efforts in Nevada

- Secure commitments of support from partners and the Nevada Legislature
- Various NVCCN partners gave presentations to the NV Legislative Committee on Public Lands regarding the importance of locally-led conservation efforts
- Committee provided NVCCN support letter for their efforts to prioritize community-based conservation of public lands and integrate local knowledge of natural resources

Significant Achievements

Establish sustainable political and financial support for locally-led conservation efforts in Nevada

- Identify opportunities to secure state-wide funding for implementation and administration of locally-led conservation projects. Various NVCCN partners provided testimony for the following 2019 Bills:
 - SB96 – provide $500k in state funding for federal match for conservation efforts. This Bill did not pass; however, SB 489 (State Grant Program to establish matching funds) did move forward. Although not specific to conservation activities, could still meet need if funded.
 - AB84 – reauthorization of QI funds.
- Work with Nevada System of Higher Education and Board of Regents to bring additional capacity to local groups
 - NVCCN provided letter regarding importance of understanding, prioritizing and assisting community-based conservation in hiring of Extension Agents
 - NVCCN is working with UNR staff to develop curriculum to support facilitation and implementation of community-based conservation efforts

Future Goals

Maintain & Expand Group

- By 2021, plan to hire NVCCN coordinator to help manage the group and associated work groups, expand participation, assist with logistics, broadly share information and lessons learned, and build local capacity to move NVCCN and NV collaborative community-based conservation efforts forward.

Continued Progress on Three Focus Areas

Resource Needs

In addition to continued support, participation and commitment from all parties, we are looking for funding to support our March 2020 workshop to provide technical assistance, and peer-peer learning and engagement.
